VERY WELL PRESERVED

for its age

80 Years ago in Reims, the home of champagne, food fanatics were bubbling with ideas for preserving the flavour of fresh food, from fruit and vegetables to meat and fish. Townspeople sought not only to preserve their abundant supplies but also to preserve meals. The result was the creation of the Le Parfait Jar with its famous orange rubber seal. Over many years, Le Parfait has built up its reputation for quality and has gained legendary status with French families. Today 'Le Parfait' is synonymous with freshness and flavour.

Homemade means natural

It also means that you can preserve your favourite seasonal fruit and vegetables, with no additives or preservatives.

They are good for the planet

Besides being completely recyclable, they don't waste energy. They're kept in the cupboard, not in the freezer.

As well as preserving, they look good too!

You can use the jars as a vase, a souvenir box or to put candles in... they can be filled with anything and everything.

Le Parfait

Preserving is fun

Pick, cook, savour, share... preserving is all that and more! It's so enjoyable, economical and easy that you'll soon be hooked.

Nothing goes to waste, it all gets preserved

Had a bumper harvest this year and not sure what to do with excess fruit and vegetables? Just pop them into a jar and bring them out again when you're ready to use them. They are a great time saver.

Trustworthy jars that stand the test of time

Our jars are really sturdy and can be used time after time. Just change the rubber seals or caps after each use. What's more, the glass is 100 % natural, airtight and locks in the flavour. It's the most hygienic type of storage container.
